

Concept is Key

Developing Understanding and Engagement in Mathematics

Wednesday 1 February 2017

Session time – afternoon into evening – 1.00pm – 5.30pm

Only £130* per person including lunch

The Training Centre, OLCHS, Fulwood, PRESTON

A course for teachers of mathematics who are looking for inspirational ideas for engaging pupils in the mathematics classroom whilst raising aspirations and standards. Particularly useful for NQTs and RQTs.

- How to teach mathematics by developing confidence and understanding in key concepts and embedding effective mathematics pedagogy in practice
- Common misconceptions and how to avoid them
- Mathematical memory and revision techniques
- Seamless Assessment that helps pupil progress in their learning of mathematics
- Broadening and deepening mathematics content knowledge

Mary Tuson is a Specialist Leader of Education for Mathematics. She has experience of running training courses for trainee mathematics teachers, NQTs, RQTs, non-specialist mathematics teachers, teaching assistants and subject leaders. Her core belief in teaching mathematics is a desire to share her enthusiasm for the subject. Mary developed her role as a presenter and trainer when she worked for Lancashire Education Authority as a KS3 Mathematics Consultant. On a national level, as an 'Expert Subject Leader' for the NCETM, Mary has been involved in a national priority project in subject leadership, supporting other mathematics subject leaders around the country.

"Over the years I have attended much CPD, and I rate this as outstanding. The course provided me with inspiration, confidence and creative ideas for maths teaching. Few courses blend so well the theoretical big questions about maths teaching, with practical activities to try with groups of children. I felt prepared and knowledgeable about the current curriculum and assessment changes. Thanks to Mary for the engaging and interesting delivery of the course!"

Cost: £130 per person including lunch and refreshments

*Cost - £115 per person for members of the Catholic Teaching Alliance.

To book: email training@olchs.lancs.sch.uk or call 01772 326931